

Why Handwriting Analysis?

Does it work?

Is it accurate?

Why should I trust it?

All good questions! And it is quite understandable that if you have never used or tried handwriting analysis, otherwise known as graphology, before it may seem more than a little strange that your handwriting can tell your personality.

But it does!

And oh, so accurately!

HOW it works.

When you see someone you know well walking along, far off in the distance, you can't make out their face, and you can't recognize their clothes. But you can tell it's them.

How? By the way they move as they walk.

Even if you don't know someone, you can tell if they are angry, happy, depressed etc. by the movements of their body. You can tell if they are shy and withdrawn, or a raging extrovert.

It's all in their movement, their body language.

You may well recognize a member of your immediate family just by the sound of their footsteps - our movements are that unique.

These impulses that cause you to move come from the brain. The impulses that enable you to write, also come from the brain, and are as unique to you as your other body movements. The difference is that when you write, you leave an indelible trail behind you with the pen on the page.

Handwriting Analysis is the analyzing of these movements.

Everyone's writing is unique.

You may write in the same "style" as someone else, but you don't write exactly the same as anyone else.

Why should I trust it?

- The legal systems in countries all over the world trust it, and accept it into their court systems.
- The US Congress have recognized it as a valid and accepted branch of psychology.
- In some countries in Europe and the Middle East, up to 95% of prospective employees have their handwriting analyzed as part of the hiring process.
- It's accuracy, as in all branches of psychology, depends on the practitioner, but it can have an 90% accuracy rating when done by a Professional Handwriting Analyst.

What does it show?

- It shows you entire personality
- Approximately 700 traits, which all interact and combine to make you the unique individual you are
- For more on the traits that can be identified in writing, read “Wondering what you can tell from your Handwriting?” available on the homepage at www.potentiality.biz

Handwriting Analysis does not tell the future or the past.

It is a Personality Assessment Tool.

It may be used in any area where understanding the personality of the writer will be an asset.

(Do you know any area of life where that would NOT be an asset??)

It's a fascinating science, and here at Potentiality we give you 3 ways to discover it:

1. Through our free articles
2. Through our Books and Booklets
3. Through our Reports and Readings
4. Through our Speaking/ Conference Services
